Experts at Rottermond Jewelers Reveal the Top Four Engagement Ring Trends of This Year

Shoppers are on the lookout for styles that display their individualism, opting for settings, colors, and stone shapes that act as an extension of their personality.

MICHIGAN, July 2, 2019 (Newswire.com) - As one of the most popular jewelry retailers in Michigan, the experts at Rottermond Jewelers have seen their fair share of bridal and fashion jewelry trends pass through their showrooms.

In recent years more and more brides-to-be have asked for engagement rings that put their personalities on full display, and designers are more than willing to oblige. Here are four popular engagement ring trends that stand above the rest this year.

Starting off the list are fancy diamond shapes -- with highly-requested marquise, oval, and pear shapes coming in first. Although round cut diamonds are still the number one choice for brides all across the nation, many women today opt for fancy shapes to lend a distinctive, eye-catching look to their engagement ring.

Colored center stones are another trend jewelry experts see a lot more of, especially with celebrities like Lady Gaga and Victoria Beckham leading the charge. After all, who can resist the allure of having their favorite color or birthstone incorporated into their engagement ring? Bellissima, an Italian brand available at Rottermond Jewelers' Brighton store, takes this one step further: shoppers can customize 120 different designs with diamonds, sapphires, emeralds, rubies, or morganites in the designer's virtual store.

On the other end of the spectrum are minimalist engagement rings, which are perfect for fiancées with a decidedly understated taste in fashion. The Crown collection from Michael M, a bridal designer available at Rottermond's Milford showroom, displays this perfectly. Flawless center stones are flanked by a simple band of smaller side diamonds, amplifying their beauty effortlessly.

Finally, future brides with a penchant for one-of-a-kind jewelry pieces can opt for a custom-designed engagement ring. Do they want to combine their favorite parts of three different rings into one? Is there a look they're going for but can't quite put their finger on what "it" is? With the help of a master jewelry designer, every bride-to-be can get exactly what they've dreamed of.
