GrandInvest a New International Technology-Based Investment Platform Launches

(New York, NY)--GrandInvest.com, a new international real estate technology-based investment platform, recently launched to investors around the world this month. Founded by The Grande Organization, an integrated company specializing in residential and hotel development, educational facilities, sports management, and resort and destination real estate, GrandInvest.com is an innovative internet platform designed to offer direct financial participation in celebrity-branded real estate located around the world with a simple click of a button.

At GrandInvest.com, qualified investors can browse a full complement of unique opportunities by project, type of fund, project phase, or by sports centers. Additional transparency and access is offered through a complete listing with detailed and updated project information on the site.

Through a streamlined process, qualified investors can register on the site and opt to perform immediate live pledges or investments, communicate with the company's management, and, most importantly, keep track of their individual investments and documentation.

"We are excited about this new technology platform which will benefit investors in the ever changing world of financial services. With continuous investor reporting, and video progress reports, future owners seeking diversified global investments will be able to maintain constant access to financial, operating, and development performance," according to Michael Smith, Director of Investor Relations for GrandInvest.

GrandInvest.com was created to serve investors and management alike, with the objective to provide transparent and timely information, market and economic data, project financials, communications, and investment processes that are now available to investors on each continent.
