

PRESS RELEASE - VerseOne Distribution Unveils New Brand Identity.

VerseOne Distribution, a digital music distribution provider has launched a new corporate brand identity to elevate the company's corporate identity in line with embracing a much more artsy and vibrant color scheme with color selections that appeal to a youthful and playful mind.

"We have grown our business severalfold over the last few years. Our brand relaunch represents the natural evolution of that transformation and a reaffirmation to improve our service delivery to our artists, clients and partners" said Ashley Cao, cofounder, and, Chief Marketing Officer. Today, VerseOne Distribution provides an average music delivery time of 48 hours and less than 24 hours in special cases, a combination of over 280 digital streaming and downloads stores alongside additional artist services to support artists and help artists have a successful music career.

Detailed information about our brand style guide can be found at the following links:

1. Brand Style guide: <https://verseone.net/verseone-distribution-brand-guide/>
2. Media Kit: <https://verseone.net/files/Media-Kit-Files.zip>

About VerseOne Distribution

VerseOne Distribution provides digital music distribution services for artists to sell their music and music videos on digital streaming and download stores worldwide. Music and music videos submitted to us gets distributed to 280+ endpoints. Artists keep 100% of their copyrights.