Get Insight into this Glorious Decade during the 1890s History Symposium

Reserve your seat for this year's illuminating history symposium offering an in-depth examination of the 1890s decade with educational and entertaining programs by national and local scholars, historians and authors.

The National Automobile Museum provides an educational historical forum fit for NDE course approval.

Special highlight of the symposium is the Museum's mini-version of the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition. Journey through a new age of discovery as you enjoy activity stations throughout the Museum that illustrate the history of the era. Interactive, educational and fun is the tenor of this adventure.

Winds of change marked the 1890s. The symposium will look at some significant events of the era. On the brink of the 20th Century, our country progressed from a primarily agricultural economy to a largely industrial one, from rural to urban, from a country seeking its "manifest destiny" to an international outlook. A decade of change that hinted at even more change and the dawn of the modern age.
