

Acquisition Management

Overview

Working Knowledge^{CSP} is uniquely at the crossroads of federal acquisition and knowledge management. Federal acquisition includes a number of core business processes such as contracting, program management, and others. An underlying theme in the business planning and execution of these core acquisition processes is the need for and the ability of the Federal acquisition leadership and its workforce to leverage its critical and relevant knowledge about "the business of acquisition" more effectively.

We focus on helping your multi-dimensional acquisition organization build a shared understanding of its strengths and challenges and agree on priorities for a plan to strengthen the organization. We work with you to align your organization to operate strategically within the constantly changing, complex acquisition environment which is federal acquisition, to improve your acquisition policy development and implementation, and to mitigate the risk of workforce turnover and knowledge loss that can cripple your organization's effectiveness and its ability to acquire the products, systems, and services your organization mission requires. The unmatched combination of federal acquisition and knowledge management experience ensures the application of practical knowledge solutions to complex acquisition challenges confronting a 21st century acquisition organization.

Company Profile

We are independent knowledge management consulting company with deep acquisition management experience and expertise. We work with you to more effectively leverage the knowledge of your workforce to continuously improve your acquisition performance through an improved ability to leverage "what you know about what you do."

Working Knowledge^{CSP} is a service disabled veteran owned small business (SDVOSB) established in 2009. In 2010 we earned Center for Veteran Enterprise (CVE) verification from the Department of Veterans Affairs. In the same year, the Commonwealth of Virginia certified us an SDVOSB. In 2010, we graduated from the Veteran Institute for Procurement, a congressionally chartered certification program for veteran owned businesses helping them to establish best business practices.
