SASKATOON, Saskatchewan, June 4, 2019 (NewsWire.com)

- As part of the nationwide Tacori Loves Canada event, all Tacori jewellery pieces available at GMG Jewellers will have new and improved pricing starting this month! Prices will be reduced by 23% to reflect a similar price to the United States. This includes all bridal and fashion jewellery from the California-based designer, as well as all men's jewellery and accessories.

So whether customers are interested in a glittering engagement ring or a piece of minimalist jewellery, they're sure to find something they love at the Saskatchewan-based jeweller.

Visit GMG's showroom in Saskatoon to explore some of the brand's most popular bridal jewellery collections: Petite Crescent and Dantela.

Petite Crescent engagement rings use French-cut settings that showcase each diamond in their full brilliance. The designer's signature diamond-embedded crescent shapes are even more prominent in rings from this line, and ring shanks featuring larger side stones than other Tacori bridal collections. Dantela, which means "lace" in Romanian, refers to the latticework of precious metal that supports the crown of each ring. A halo of dainty diamonds lend their light to the center stone, allowing the diamond to look up to 30% larger.

For those looking for just the right gift for their special lady, look to Tacori's assortment of fashion jewellery. The understated sophistication of The Ivy Lane collection makes a great addition to any woman's wardrobe, while the Diamond collection is striking in its simplicity. For the finishing touch to any anniversary celebration, a piece from any of Tacori's fashion lines makes for the perfect surprise.

This price reduction will be in effect from now until the end of the year, so those interested in owning a piece of the Tacori legacy for less should make sure to visit GMG Jewellers in downtown Saskatoon.
