Discreet remote monitoring

Right now, social isolation is necessary. WalkWise can help.

With Coronavirus forcing senior living communities to limit or restrict visitation, it can be difficult to keep families in the loop. At times like this, technology can fill the gap. WalkWise is a smart walker attachment that sends daily activity directly to families via our mobile app. It gives peace of mind by demonstrating that loved ones are maintaining activity levels and staying safe. Our community dashboard (right) helps staff quickly know if a resident has limited mobility, if their walker tips, or show signs of a UTI.
